Men fought battles and sailed oceans to procure the best of Indian spices. The need to break the hunger is gone. The new need deserves tantalizing aroma flying to the taste buds, taste that mesmerizes the senses and sends you rolling over, getting the happy meal forever.

Seasonings are herbs, spices and sweet ingredients which are added to flavor the food. These give your main ingredients their final touch of taste that dominates the dish. The rise of food and hotel industry have stimulated the demand for the trading and processing of spices and seasonings which has further developed into an important support industry for the same. This demand has risen so that inter-continental cuisines are well-prepared and served authentically.
